About the Investigator and His Research in Forgiveness

Dr. C.R. (Rick) Snyder is one of the foremost researchers studying positive psychology today. He has developed the field of hope into a self-sustaining field of study, and he has also worked to study forgiveness as part of positive psychology. Dr. Snyder and his former graduate student Laura Thompson have developed the widely used Heartland Forgiveness Scale (HFS). In a recent article, the psychometric support for the instrument was published. The HFS assesses forgiveness of others, self, and situations.
